

The NJ "do not call" program works for its residents and should not be overturned or watered down.